

Lecture Series: "Contemporary World and International Relations"

Virulent Populism and the Structural Problem of American Democracy: Thoughts on the Upcoming US Election

Presenter:

Professor Christopher Rossi
(UiT The Arctic University of Norway)

Chair:

Professor Nobuo Haruna
(Institute of Japan Studies, Tufs)

Christopher Rossi is professor of international law and international relations at the University of Tromsø, the Arctic University of Norway. He has worked at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the UN International Atomic Energy Agency, the Iowa Law College, American University, and in the Clinton White House National Security Council as a Director of Human Rights, Democracy, and Humanitarian Affairs.

He has a Ph.D. and M.A. from Johns Hopkins, an LL.M. from London, a J.D. from Iowa, and a B.A. from Washington University.

1 November 2024 (Fri.)

11:45 - 12:35

Research and Lecture Building (Kenkyu Kogito) 109

Registration is not required

Students and Faculty only

In person

Language: English

Institute of International Relations, Tokyo University of Foreign Studies

 www.tufs.ac.jp/common/fs/iir/

 iir-office@tufs.ac.jp